

McLean, VA (May 17, 2016) - Technalink is proud to announce that Alka Dhillon, Founder and CEO, has been awarded the Global "Technology and Innovation Leaders of the Decade" presented by the Women Economic Forum (WEF). Alka Dhillon will be speaking at the Women Economic Forum 2016, held in New Delhi, India from May 16-21. She will partake in a panel discussion speaking on the world of technology and innovation, sharing how her work professionally and personally is influencing innovation for the future and shaping new generations. She will also lead a one-hour session on The OM Factor methodology.

This global award recognizes and honors Alka Dhillon as a role model inspiring women around the world, advancing and supporting women's leadership, and the feminine spirit in all walks of life. The WEF celebrates Alka Dhillon's groundbreaking work with Technalink and her pivotal contribution to innovation within the industry, redefining what it means to be a successful leader in the Tech world.

As such, she embodies the WEF woman: determined, empowering, and filled with an unyielding character of positivity.

"To be invited to be part of this unprecedented global summit is a true honor," says Technalink's CEO Alka Dhillon. "The theme of 'Women: Uplifting & Uniting The World' is extremely fitting where global dignitaries, iconic business people and thought-leaders are coming together to discuss global change and contributing mindfully to our footprint both individually and collectively. Hats off to WEF and India for harnessing this force at the summit in an extremely impactful way. I look forward to sharing ideas, making meaningful connections and being part of global change."

Fellow awardees include EU Project Director: Lara Mastrogiovanni; Ambassador of Israel: H.E Mr. Daniel Carmon; Vice President of Indian National Congress: Rahul Gandhi; Princess of Kuwait and President for Council of Arab Business Women: H.E. Dr. Sheikha Hissah Saad Al-Sabah; CEO of Socialfare, Italy: Laura Orestano; CEO and Founder of I am Woman, New Zealand: Annu Sharma; among countless other leaders.

About The Women Economic Forum:

WEF is hosted by the ALL Ladies League with the theme "Women: Uplifting & Uniting the World." The forum is a major annual global event in which people from all over the world and from all walks of life come to celebrate women's economic empowerment and leadership. ALL Ladies League boasts over 2500 members with more than 450 chapters worldwide. The conference garners over 1500 attendees including political dignitaries, trailblazing entrepreneurs, and inspirational leaders. "It is a galactic gathering to foster women's leadership to become proactive agents of change in ALL spheres of self and society," says Dr. Harbeen Arora. The Women Economic Forum is far more than a mere conference; it is an international movement coming to fruition.

WEF: <http://www.wef.org.in/>

BROCHURE: <http://www.wef.org.in/WEF2016-brochure.pdf>

About Technalink:

Technalink is a Certified Women and Minority Owned (EDWOSB), 8(a) and 8(a) STARS II IT Services and Management Consulting Firm headquartered in the DC Metropolitan area. We support over 16 government agencies both DOD and civilian, and over 30 Fortune 500 companies worldwide. Technalink helps Federal agencies meet their Administrator's Strategic Initiatives and has earned awards for stellar performance and deployment. We use Agile methodology for our Software Development in both our Federal and Commercial projects to ensure stakeholder engagement, have predictable schedules and costs, and the ability to course correct thereby creating efficiencies. Technalink is committed to being a part of the evolutionary process of empowering women and girls through STEM related careers, while contributing mindfully to it. For more information and to download our capabilities statement please visit www.technalink.net.